Dear Dr. Marie-Anne Van Sluys:

As you know, Fundacao de Amparo a Pesquisa do Estado de Sao Paulo (“FAPESP”) is a party to The Crops of the Future Collaborative Consortium Agreement, dated May 1, 2018 (the “COTF Agreement”) and the COTF FAPSEP Addendum, dated September 20, 2018 (the “Addendum”). The Foundation for Food and Agriculture Research (“FFAR”) administers the Crops of the Future Collaborative (the “Consortium”) pursuant to the terms of the COTF Agreement.

FAPESP has notified FFAR and the Executive Committee of the Consortium that it no longer wishes to participate in the Consortium. FFAR agrees to terminate the COTF Agreement and the Addendum with respect to FAPESP. No further dues will be due or payable by FAPESP under COTF Agreement and Addendum, and FFAR agrees to waive all dues accrued prior to termination that have not been paid by FAPESP.

Please sign and return a copy of this letter to my attention, acknowledging that FAPESP has agreed to terminate its participation in the Consortium, effective as of November 3, 2021 and that FAPESP hereby waives all rights as a Founder under the COTF Agreement.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey L. Rosichan, Ph.D.
Director, Crops of the Future Collaborative

Acknowledged and agreed (Fundacao de Amparo a Pesquisa do Estado de Sao Paulo):
